

Speaker: Professor Bruce M. Maggs, Vice President of R&D at Akamai Technologies

Biography

Bruce Maggs is an Associate Professor of Computer Science at Carnegie Mellon University. His research focuses on networks for parallel and distributed computing systems. While on a two-year leave-of-absence from Carnegie Mellon, Maggs helped to launch Akamai Technologies, serving as its Vice President for Research and Development, before returning to Carnegie Mellon. He retains a part-time role at Akamai as Vice President for Research. Maggs's research has been recognized and supported by the National Science Foundation through its National Young Investigator program. Maggs has also held visiting faculty positions at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Princeton University.